On the ball with the Manager

Welcome to today's visitors Leeds United — a side with a great tradition.

Of course, time marches on and the Leeds line-up of today is without people like Billy Bremner, Norman Hunter, Jack Charlton, Allan Clarke . . . I could go on for ever.

But that doesn't mean to say that Leeds, under manager Jimmy Adamson, aren't as formidable a proposition as they used to be.

I am under no illusions and I know they will test us to the full today.

They will be anxious to earn something from today's encounter after being held to a home draw by Liverpool last Saturday.

We didn't cover ourselves with glory at Coventry City at the weekend, going down 3-1 and I don't want to make any excuses.

The players know that things aren't going as well as we would like, but it is no use taking them to task too severely.

I can promise that all of us will work as hard as possible to put things right.

At Coventry, I made a substitution for tactical reasons, bringing off full back Peter Nicholson to replace him with a striker — Chris Thompson.

Then Mike Walsh had the misfortune to injure a leg shortly afterwards so we were reduced to 10 men. These are times when things just don't go right!

These notes were written before our Anglo-Scottish Cup quarter final first leg at St. Mirren. And as I have said before, we want to do well in every competition we enter.

No matter what happened in Paisley, we badly need to get back onto winning ways and there is no time like the present for doing just that!

Welcome to LEEDS UNITED

DISAPPOINTING START FOR LEEDS

Leeds United found themselves in the lower half of the First Division table, and out of the League Cup, after a disappointing opening spell that saw them win only one of their first seven games.

Of course, they have the character and the talent to put such disasters behind them and still have an important say in the destination of the League Championship and the F.A. Cup. There is little doubt that they will be involved in both.

Indeed, they proved this point a couple of weeks ago when after suffering a humiliating 0-7 League Cup defeat at Arsenal, they visited the then 100 per cent Nottingham Forest side a few days later and held them to 0-0 in a First Division game. When it is remembered that Forest had scored 16 goals in their previous four games, the quality of Leeds' performance can be more easily appreciated.

The Arsenal affair can, therefore, be put into its proper perspective: It was one of those temporary lapses that all clubs suffer from time to time but should not in any way be taken as a guide to true form.

Before the new season opened, most of us had expected to find Leeds as the most serious challengers to Liverpool and Forest for the League Championship. They finished last season in such fine form, suffering only two defeats in one late run of 26 League matches, and were playing with the sort of authority and dedication that won them so many trophies in Don Revie's day.

Jimmy Adamson, who took over following Jock Stein's short spell just about a year ago, took Leeds back to power without making wholesale changes. During the course of last season he bought defender Kevin Hird for £354,000 and made a few positional changes. Otherwise, it was Leeds as it was before.

Mr. Adamson realised, obviously, that some of the players who have served the club so loyally over the years were approaching the ends of their First Division careers so he has been giving further opportunities to some of his reserve players. He has also been into the market for one or two new players.

At the tail end of last season he paid £400,000 for Swansea's Welsh international striker Alan Curtis and, shortly after this season had opened, he invested a further £350,000 in Manchester United and England's Brian Greenhoff, a player who can play with equal ability in almost any position but who favours a midfield role.

Leeds opened the season with David Harvey in goal and a back four of Byron Stevenson, Kevin Hird, Trevor Cherry and Peter Hampton. The defence switched positions amongst themselves and, when Stevenson suffered the injury that caused him to withdraw from the Wales team last week, Paul Madeley came back into the middle of the defence.

When Paul Hart returned, the versatile Cherry returned to the midfield, taking over initially from Keith Parkinson. Cherry was partnered by Carl Harris and Bryan Flynn but the arrival of Greenhoff meant that Harris lost his place. When Greenhoff was injured, Eddie Gray made a welcome re-appearance in the middle of the field.

The attack has normally comprised of Alan Curtis, Ray Hankin and Arthur Graham.

Curtis celebrated his Leeds' debut with both goals in the 2-2 draw at Bristol City on the opening day. When Leeds won at home to Everton (2-0) in the next game, they seemed well on course for a title challenge. But they were then defeated at Norwich (1-2) and held at home twice within a few days by Arsenal (1-1 in each case) in the League Cup and the League.

Then came their nightmare affair at Arsenal where they equalled their worst defeat in club history. Yet, in true Leeds' style they bounced back a few days later to deny the goal-hungry Forest attack a goal.

In view of their shaky start, we can expect to see Leeds play it exceptionally tight at the back today — just as they did at Forest — as they seek to regain their confidence and have a crack at the Championship.

Faces behind the voices

Visitors to Burnden Park cannot fail to have noticed the tremendous improvement in the public address system which is the envy of football clubs throughout the land.

Installed by local electrical contractors, Bennetts of Farnworth, the updated system is the most modern available and includes a facility, provided by the Hospital Saturday Football Fund, to broadcast direct from the ground into local Bolton hospitals.

So now, patients can tune in to the pre-match music at Burnden as well as hear commentary on first team matches.

The responsibility for playing musical dedications and keeping everyone up-to-date with team news, ticket office information and happenings around Burnden generally rests in the hands of Alan Fullelove and Kevan Williams.

And both are very much at home behind the microphone.

Alan's voice is already well known to Wanderers fans. A former actor and variety artist he has been around Burnden Park for some 10 years. He was, for a time, a public relations officer with the club and now runs his own public relations consultancy in Manchester.

A keen skier he is a qualified coach and contributes regular articles on the sport to magazines.

Kevan Williams joined Alan at the start of this season to co-present the pre-match programme. A local D.J., Kevan has broadcast regularly on hospital radio in the Chorley area and was a football referee in local leagues prior to coming to Burnden Park.

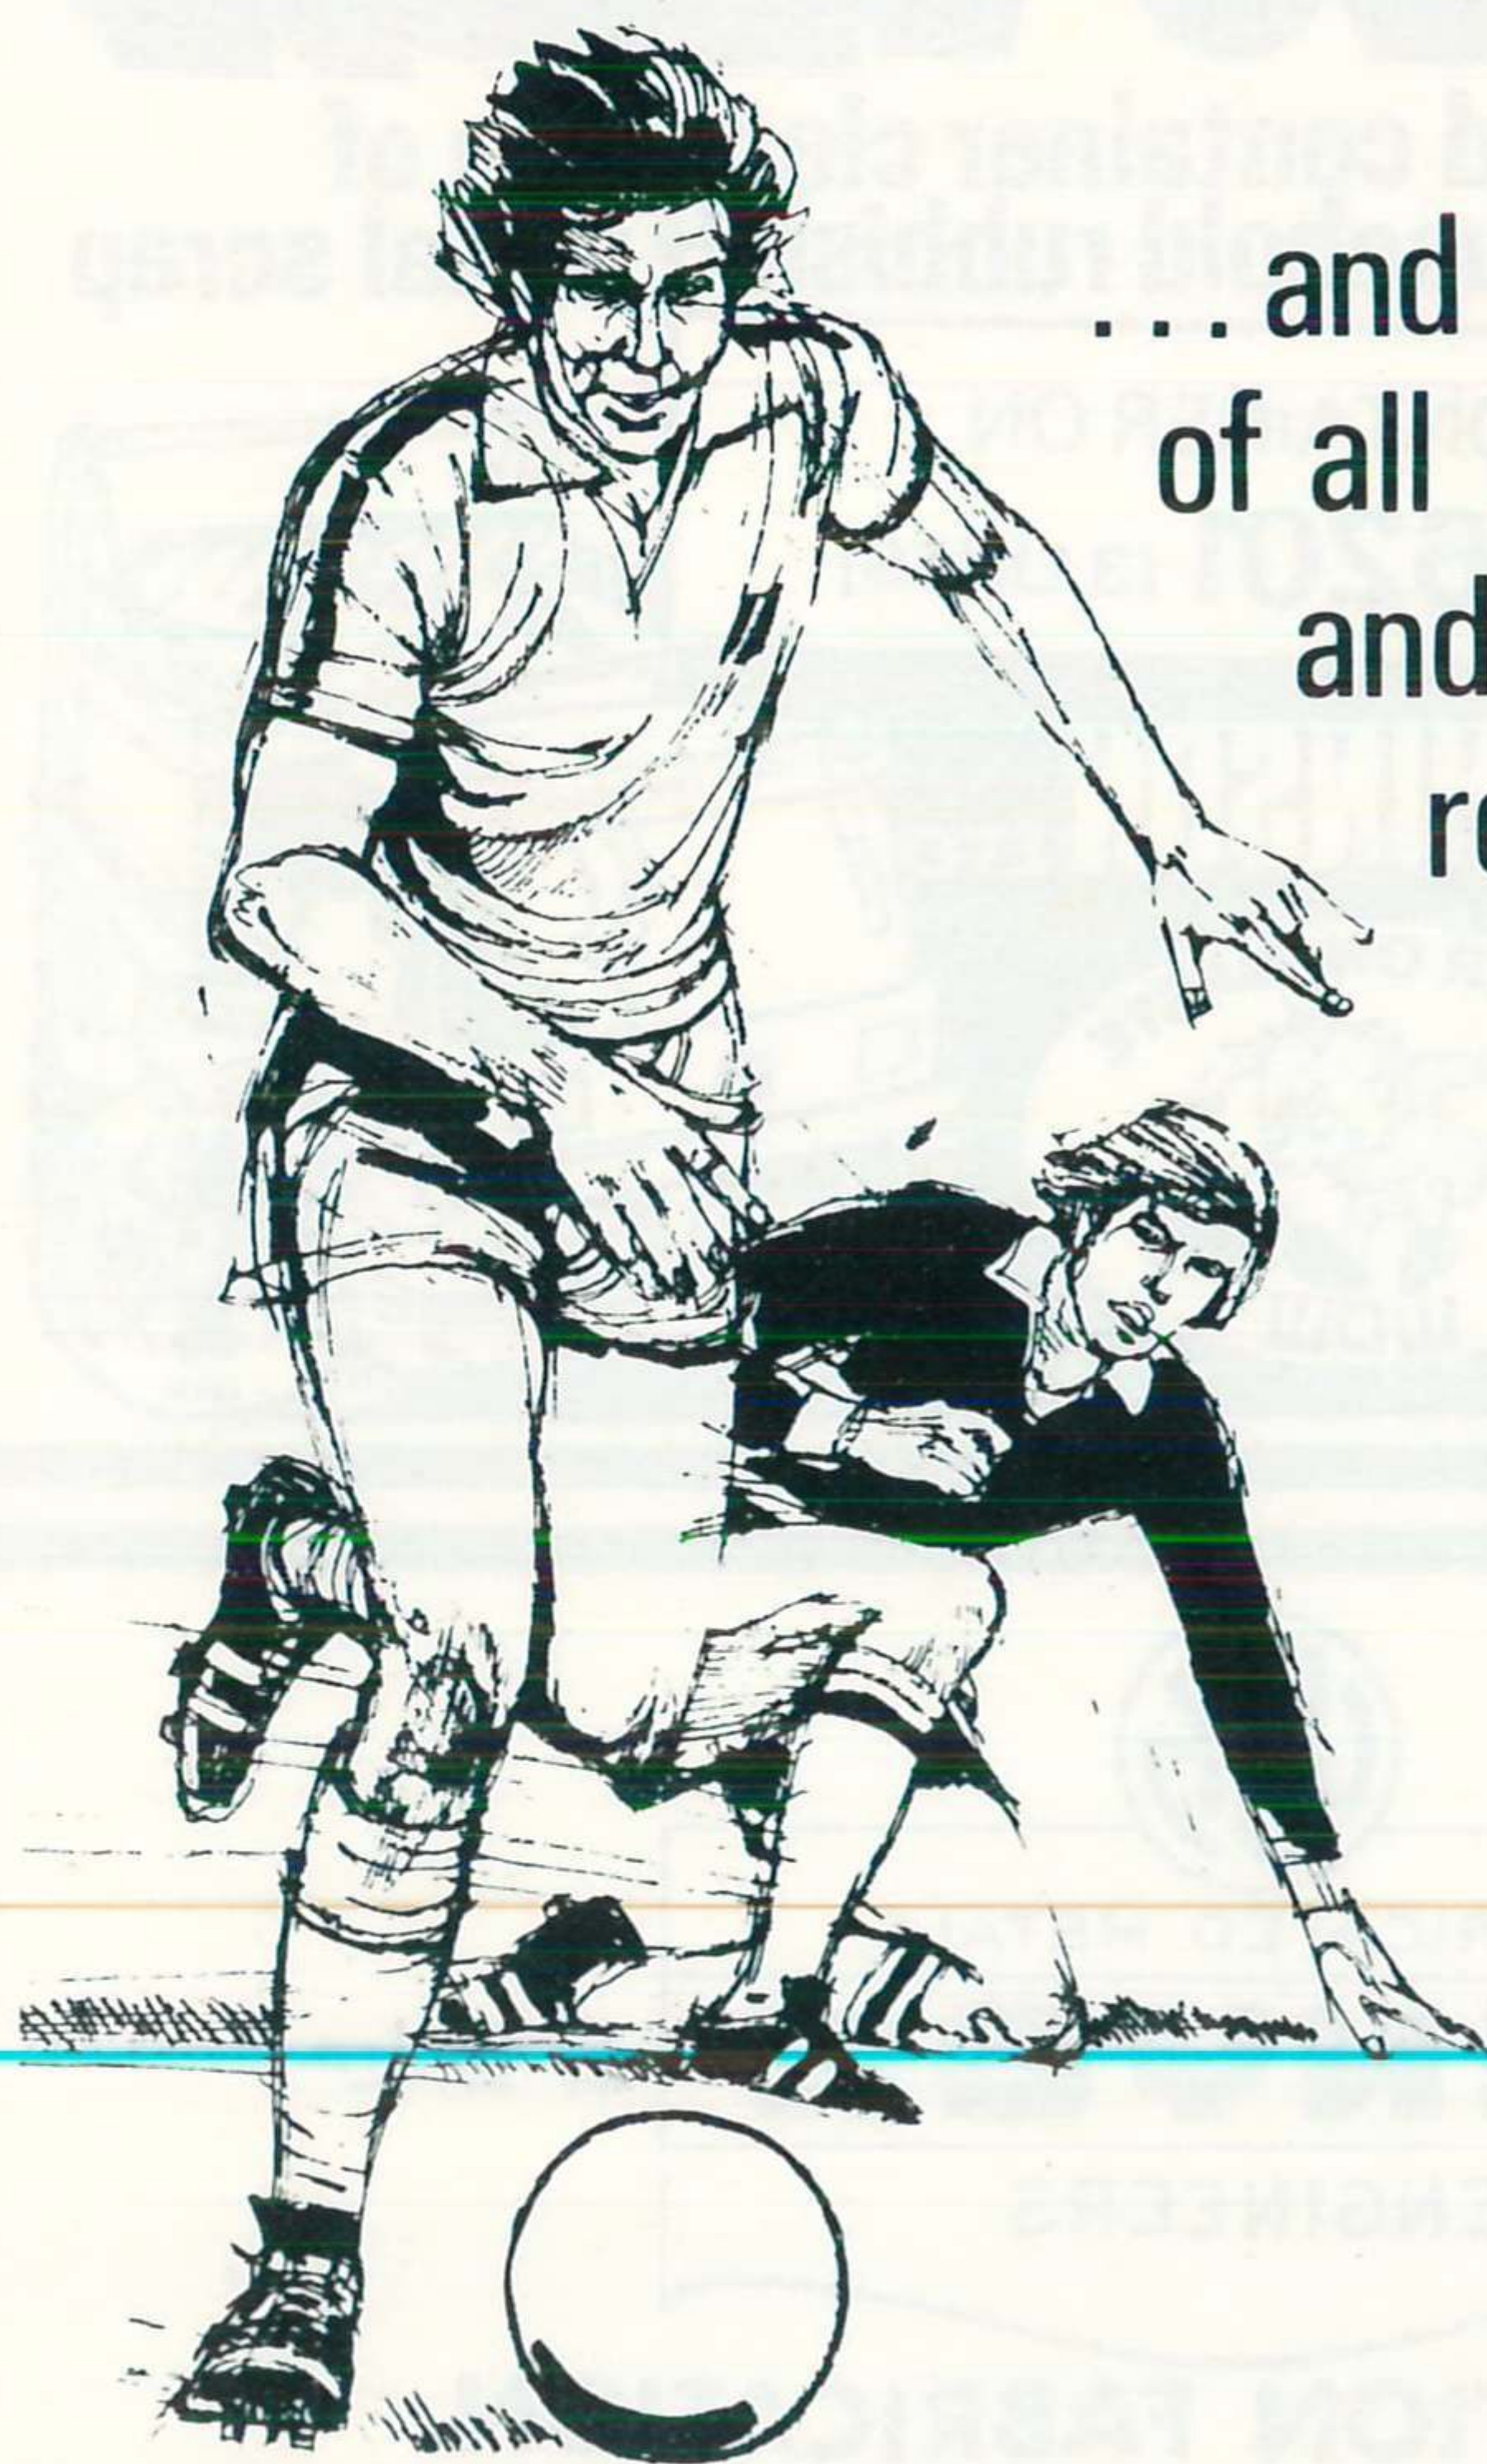

When he's not playing records, Kevan works in telecommunications with the GPO at their headquarters in Manchester.

One thing the two have in common besides the Wanderers is the poetry of American Rod McKuen.

DAVID HARVEY (Goalkeeper). David spent several years as an anxious reserve before earning a first-team place by right in 1972. But he went on to win 16 Scottish caps plus League Championship and Cup final medals.

BYRON STEVENSON (Defender). Byron made his League debut in 1974/75 but had made only a handful of senior appearances when called up for his first Welsh cap against Northern Ireland in the 1978 British Championship. He won a regular place in the Leeds' side last season and now has seven caps.

PAUL HART (Defender). Paul joined Leeds from Blackpool for £330,000 two seasons ago and has now taken over from Gordon McQueen in the centre of the defence. He played his first League football for Stockport in 1970/71. Blackpool signed him for £25,000 in 1973.

KEVIN HIRD (Defender). Leeds paid a then club record £354,000 to sign Kevin from Blackburn last season. He had come through from the juniors at Ewood Park to make his first League appearance in 1973/74.

PETER HAMPTON (Defender). Peter developed in the Elland Road juniors and got a couple of outings in their First Division side in 1972/73. It wasn't until two seasons ago, though, that he earned a regular place.

KEITH PARKINSON (Defender). Another Leeds' discovery, Keith came through for his League baptism in 1975/76 but so far has played only a couple of dozen times in the first team.

PAUL MADELEY (Defender). Paul has now played well over 500 first-team games for Leeds, performing in many positions over the years. His versatility brought him 14 England caps and many club honours during the height of Leeds' successes. Paul has recently been recalled to play in the middle of the back four.

BRIAN GREENHOFF (Midfield). Brian is now back in his best position following his recent £350,000 transfer from Manchester United. Most of 17 England caps were gained in midfield though at Old Trafford he played as often as a defender. But he also played in the First Division as a centre forward and . . . goalkeeper!

TREVOR CHERRY (Midfield/Defender). Versatile Trevor has played in midfield and defence both for Leeds and England.

He began his League days with Huddersfield in 1966/67 and was transferred to Leeds for £100,000 in 1972. Trevor has 19 England caps.

BRIAN FLYNN (Midfield). Brian may be the tiniest player in the Football League but he is certainly not lacking in creative skills — the sort that persuaded Leeds to pay Burnley £175,000 for his transfer two seasons ago. Brian was drafted into the Burnley side in 1974 and within a year was in the Welsh international team. He is now an established member of his country's team with 32 caps.

CARL HARRIS (Midfield). Carl became a Welsh international before he had gained a regular place on the Leeds' team and he now has 11 caps. Though he made his Leeds' bow in a couple of matches in 1974/75, it was only two seasons ago that he began to hold a regular place.

EDDIE GRAY (Midfield). Eddie is another of Leeds' long-serving players. He first came into the side in 1965/66 and, after gaining Scottish under-23 honours, he played 12 times in the full international team.

ALAN CURTIS (Forward). Alan had been hitting home goals so consistently for ambitious Swansea — 17 in 1976/77, 34 in 1977/78 and 20 last season — and had become a fixture in the Welsh national team so Leeds stepped in to sign him for £400,000 at the end of last season. Alan now has 17 Welsh caps and celebrated his First Division debut by scoring both goals in a 2-2 draw at Bristol City on the opening day of this season.

RAY HANKIN (Forward). Ray won England youth and under-23 honours in his Burnley days and impressed as a goalscoring forward. Leeds paid £180,000 for him in 1976 but he took a long time to settle down. He hit top form in 1977/78, though, when he was top scorer with 21 goals. Last season he scored 11.

JOHN HAWLEY (Forward). John ended his first season in First Division football as Leeds' top scorer with 17 goals last term. He left Hull, after five seasons as a first-teamer, to join Leeds for £80,000 in the 1978 close-season.

ARTHUR GRAHAM (Forward). Arthur joined Leeds from Aberdeen in a £120,000 deal in 1977. A Scottish full and under-23 international, Arthur has been a member of Aberdeen's side for eight years and in 1974/75 he was their leading scorer.

How to make friends

The Malawi national team last week became the latest in a long line of friends Bolton Wanderers have made throughout the world. Wanderers took on and beat the Malawis 3 - 1 at Victory Park, Chorley.

It was a night for making new friends all round. Wanderers did Malawi proud, turning out a full first team squad and giving the Africans the toughest opposition of their two-week long tour of England. The Malawis gave Wanderers a useful run out and Chorley provided an ideal if humble setting for a game thoroughly enjoyed by the crowd of 1,300.

Many of those in the crowd had taken the opportunity to watch a Division One side in action for the first time.

Wanderers officials were well pleased with the way the evening was organised and it was hinted that similar fixtures in the future might well be offered to Chorley.

Roy Greave's team were in control of things on the field. After Dandize had given the Malawis a shock lead, Tadeusz Nowak equalised then the skipper himself got on the score-sheet before Frank Worthington scored from the penalty spot to round things off.

But the tourists played their part in an entertaining game. Gondwe was a speedy winger with an abundance of skill and ball control and the goalkeeper Maganga deserved the standing ovation he received for some exciting and spectacular saves.

Bolton's number three goalkeeper David Felgate was in fine form too, taking his chance of a game with his senior colleagues, and showing again the strength in depth that Wanderers have in that position.

You'll be pleased to hear the latest progress report on Peter Reid who has been out of action since New Year's Day when he suffered a serious knee injury playing against Everton in a game which was eventually abandoned.

Peter has worked tirelessly throughout the summer and has been training with his first team colleagues recently. Everyone concerned with his recovery is well pleased with his progress and our best wishes go out to Peter for a speedy and successful return to League football.

Wanderers' home fixture against Derby County is being switched from Friday March 14th, 1980 to the following day, Saturday the 16th. The fixture was originally scheduled for the Friday evening when the fixture lists were published to avoid a clash with the League Cup Final which was to have been televised 'live'. But the Football League has recently announced that the live broadcast has been cancelled.

The club's best wishes go to Walter Griffiths, the former secretary and commercial manager of Oldham Athletic our Lancashire neighbours, who has announced his retirement from the game.

Walter started his days with

Wolves then spent many years with Manchester City as secretary before going to Boundary Park in 1973. His advice and expertise will be sadly missed, but we wish him the best of luck in what we hope will be a long and happy retirement.

Junior Whites

There was a big turnout of Junior Whites members and parents at Bromwich Street last Sunday morning to see an entertaining display by the Greater Manchester Police dog team.

Members saw demonstrations of obedience training and "Criminal" arrests by six dogs and their handlers led by Sgt. Ken Barrass. And the hundred or so Juniors had opportunity of questioning Sgt. Barrass and his colleagues on various aspects of dog handling.

The display, organised through Inspector Alan Jobson at Bolton Central, was the first of several events planned by Nat Lofthouse and Junior Whites secretary Margaret Rowlinson for the season.

Next on the programme is a trip to Blackpool Illuminations on Thursday September 27th. Tickets are £1.50 and are available from Margaret in the Executive Club or by phoning Bolton 29433.

Where the action is...

Wanderers players will switch sports tomorrow afternoon (September 23) when they take part in a Charity Rounders game at Farnworth Social Circle.

Their opponents are the Burnden Belles and the game starts at 2 p.m. Gates open at noon and admission on the day is 20p for adults and 10p for children.

A licenced bar is available so there's no need to miss out on your lunchtime pint.

IPSWICH BOSS HAULS OFF INTERNATIONAL STAR

Ipswich manager Bobby Robson made one of the most controversial decisions of his managerial career when he decided to pull off his England centre-forward Paul Mariner 15 minutes from the end of their home match against Bristol City. "We were leading 1-0 but City looked as if they were about to get back into the game," explained Mr. Robson. "I wanted another goal and I knew I had to do something quickly. So I called Paul off."

It was the first time in three years as an Ipswich player that the England striker had been asked to make way for a substitute.

Mr. Robson thought he took the decision well, even though the player had left the ground before the match ended. "He shook hands with Eric Gates and wished him well," said Mr. Robson.

"It was a very difficult position. It was really a choice between Mariner and young Alan Brazil. I felt Brazil needed the experience of a full 90 minutes so I decided upon Mariner. We have spoken recently about a few weaknesses in his play but he'll overcome these and I'm sure he'll play for England again."

Mariner, who was capped five times by England, scored 17 goals for Ipswich last season but had managed only one in his first seven games this term.

Derby County fans had a rare treat at The Baseball ground when the Rams, after 743 minutes of League soccer without a single goal, somehow contrived to get the ball into Arsenal's net three times within 42 minutes!

New Derby boss Colin Addison put it all down to his half-time talk. "We were losing 0-2 and it looked as if we'd go on for ever without scoring a goal. In the opening 45 minutes we must have let Arsenal have the ball for 40 minutes.

"I have never stormed into players more fiercely than I did during that interval. I took each of the 11 individually and spoke not about tactics, but about attitudes. I think it worked because we won 3-2!"

Derby had failed to score in the final three games of last season — before Mr. Addison took over — and had played four League games this season without a goal.

Arsenal, fresh from their 7-0 pounding of Leeds, seemed to be poised for another huge win when they turned round with that 2-0 lead against such an anaemic-looking Derby side that appeared ready to be torn apart.

All their manager Terry Neill could say afterwards was: "We chucked it away. I feel I could give all my players a mighty big kick up the backside."

Life is looking up these days for two coloured brothers who come from East London. Chris and Henry Hughton both joined Spurs as schoolboys when they were 13 and 14. But Henry, who is a year younger than his brother, decided to leave the club and went along to Orient.

Last season Henry was given his chance in Orient's Second Division side and older brother Chris, still in Spurs' youth team, began to wonder if he had been wrong in staying. Now the story is turning out happier for Chris has been playing in Tottenham's First Division side at left-back.

Chris explained: "I was always a mid-field player for Spurs' youth team but one day, when we were short, I played at left-back and I have since stayed there. It was a lucky break and I hope I can now hold my place."

Frank Sibley, who was until the beginning of last season the youngest manager in the First Division, has taken up playing again — seven years after being ordered to quit by specialists. Sibley spent his soccer life with Q.P.R., making his first-team bow at the age of 15.

In 1971, when he was only 22, he suffered a severe knee injury that was to end his playing career. He remained with the club as coach and in 1977 was appointed manager in succession to Dave Sexton. At 28 he was the youngest-ever manager in the First Division. But he walked out on the eve of last season and, after a brief spell as Walsall's manager, quit the game altogether.

Now, at 30, he has started to play again — for Hounslow in the Southern league. "I don't think I shall ever return to big-time football again," said Sibley. "I'm a partner in a building firm and that takes up all my time. Now I'm just playing for fun."

Meet at the Pied Bull

Monday night is Supporters Club night throughout the Bolton area. The Horwich and Chorley branch has been meeting in the Toll Bar public house in Horwich for several weeks.

Now Shaun Smith, secretary of the Newton-le-Willows branch tells us that fans from the surrounding area get together every Monday at 8-30 p.m. in the Pied Bull Hotel, High Street, Newton-le-Willows.

Both branches have interesting programmes of events lined up for the winter and new members are always welcomed.

Coming soon

Wanderers commercial manager Alf Davies is planning the most ambitious and exciting holiday package yet for Bolton fans - and one that you won't want to miss.

Keep your eyes on this column for an announcement in the next few weeks that will take your breath away.
